

In the Beginning,

Tacoma Power Squadron partnered with Seattle PS and entered the SeaFair Milk Carton Derby.

PC Larry and Cindy took on the challenge to design and construct our Hawaiian inspired boat.

With the help of volunteers, the Hawaiian Catamaran began to take shape.

Ka Waiu Moku

Translated from Hawaiian to English is

“The Milk Boat”

The twin hulls represent "Maile vine" which means:
“Intertwined to symbolize peace and the coming together of two chiefs”

The boys in the boat are from Tacoma, Seattle and Everett Power Squadrons.

Many thanks to Seattle PS for their logistics on race day. Their previous experience in the milk carton derby was very beneficial. They made a long day at the event comfortable, fun and relaxing.

 Thanks Everett PS for your energetic muscle men.

As always we try to communicate SAFETY FIRST

First few minutes on the water.

Yes, it does float. Yes, it goes straight and can turn. And yes, It's FAST.

After a few minutes on the water we are ready to RACE.

Our RACE

The start

We paddle away from the competition

Heading for the finish line

And The Results Are In.

We were awarded 1st Place Winner in the Non Profit Category.

Oh, By The Way

We also were awarded Best Boat in Show!

Everyone had a great time and we promoted our organizational commitment to safety on the water.
